Appaloosa Ed Harris draws on a strong cast, many of whom have acted with him in previous films, to tell the story of two gunfighters attempting to bring peace to the small town of Appaloosa in the late 1800s. Virgil Cole (Harris) and Everett Hitch (Viggo Mortensen) ride into the windswept New Mexico town and are hired to bring vigilante entrepreneur Randall Bragg (Jeremy Irons) to justice. Bragg has imposed a reign of terror over Appaloosa, but his murderous actions are tempered when Cole and Hitch take control. Matters get complicated when widower Allison French (Renee Zellweger) flounces into town and variously woos Cole, Hitch, and Bragg, allowing Harris to throw in a few neat twists as his two principal characters attempt to bring the miscreant entrepreneur to justice. Warner

Boogeyman 3 When college sophomore Sarah Morris witnesses the alleged suicide of her best friend, it sets into motion a series of horrific events that cause Sarah to fear the supernatural entity known as the Boogeyman. As she tries to convince the rest of her dorm that the Boogeyman does exist, the evil force grows stronger and her friends begin to pay the price. Now Sarah must stop this ultimate evil before the entire campus falls prey, because the question isn't whether or not the Boogeyman is going to get them-it's How and When! Sony

Vacancy 2: The First Cut In this hair-raising prequel to the creepy Luke Wilson and Kate Beckinsale-starring thriller Vacancy, the viewer is jolted back in time three years to witness the beginnings of the dangerously voyeuristic Meadow View Inn and its depraved owner, Mr. Smith. Caleb, his sexy girlfriend Jessica, and their wisecracking buddy Tanner get more than they bargained for when they hunker down in the squalid but seemingly innocuous motel. Soon enough, they discover they're spending the night in a house of horrors in which snuff films are made. Agnes Bruckner stars in this grisly, white-knuckle thriller from director Eric Bross. Sony

Naruto 31 Showdown The saga of that mischievous ninja, Naruto, continues in this volume of the popular anime series. As Naruto seeks out Sasuke, will he like what he find, or has his old comrade been transformed into something even Naruto won't be able to handle? It's up to Naruto to get a grip on his old friends or risk destroying them both. The Leaf genin have just about exhausted their strength against the Sound Four when a trio of unlikely allies arrives--the Sand siblings! Meanwhile, Naruto finally catches up to Sasuke--but he's not the Sasuke of old. Now covered in curse marks and determined to go to Orochimaru, Sasuke reflects on his childhood and the brother he wants to both emulate and destroy. Is Naruto prepared to break the unshakeable resolve of this new Sasuke? Viz Media

Naruto 32 The End of Tears Sasuke once looked up to his older brother Itachi. Now, he'll do anything to destroy him. In the Final Valley, Naruto must do his best to turn Sasuke from the path of revenge. But Sasuke's resolve may prove too much for even the ninja who holds within him the power of the Nine-Tailed Fox. Naruto has a promise to keep, and he won't ever let go of the ties of friendship--but his friend is ready to do everything in his power to sever those ties forever. Viz Media

Yeti In the grand tradition of the Sci Fi Channel's original productions and the Maneater Series (Croc, Grizzly Rage) comes Yeti, a terror tale the likes of which have never before been seen. YETI chronicles the plight of a college football team whose plane crashes in the frozen tundra of an uncharted territory. In order to get home alive, the team must face not only the elements, but a legendary snow beast. Peter DeLuise (son of Dom) stars in this rip-roaring horror ride. Genius

Blindsight Set against the breathtaking backdrop of the Himalayas, Blindsight follows the gripping true-life adventure of six blind Tibetan teenagers on a climbing expedition up formidable Mount Everest. Believed to be possessed by demons because of their blindness, the children are feared by their parents, scorned by their villages and rejected by society. Rescued by a blind educator and adventuress, the students invite a famous blind mountain climber to visit their school and let him lead them higher than they have ever been before. The result is nothing anyone could have predicted. Image

Samson and the 7 Miracles of the World Gordon Scott who also appeared in five feature films as Tarzan - is one of the most prolific stars of the sword-and-sandal films genre and this is the first of his starring performances (Imported to the U.S. and renamed from its original title, Maciste at the Court of the Grand Khan). Set in 13th century China, Samson rescues a prince and princess from a cruel Tarter chieftain who is trying to steal their kingdom. After many miraculous feats of strength, good at last triumphs over evil. Ali Baba and the 7 Saracens: The famous hero of the Arabian Nights classic stories is pitted against Omar, the evil king of Coprah. Funny Face Serious thinker Jo catches the interest of fashion photographer Dick Avery, who is seeking a natural and "funny" face to take with him to a Paris fashion show. Seeing the opportunity to bring her ideas on philosophy to the Left Bank cafés, Jo agrees to join him, but once in Paris, Dick's focused attention on her and the fairy-tale clothes inspire daydreams of love. Fred Astaire's silky dance moves and Audrey Hepburn's fresh, wistful spirit charge this modern-day Cinderella story with elegance and charm. Paramount

Alvin and the Chipmunks The Chipettes The three Chipettes -- the female counterparts to world-famous chipmunks Alvin, Simon and Theodore find fun and adventure in this collection of cartoons spotlighting the beloved triplets. Throughout these tales, high-spirited diva Brittany maintains a love-hate relationship with Alvin, brainy Jeanette hits it off with her fellow brainiac Simon, and super-athletic Eleanor romances the chubby Theodore. Paramount

Walker Texas Ranger Season 6 Martial arts star Chuck Norris made his transition to the small screen with the action-packed television drama Walker Texas Ranger. Lasting for nine seasons, the series followed the crime-fighting adventures of tough-guy Texas Ranger Cord Walker (Norris) as he brought justice to the streets of Dallas with a well-placed karate chop to the city's more nefarious criminals. Walker's unconventional interrogation methods clashed with his computer-expert partner, Jimmy Trivette (Clarence Gilyard), and the by-the-book county D.A., Alex Cahill (Sheree Wilson), who also functioned as Walker's love interest. This collection presents the series' sixth season, in which the red-headed lawman continues trouncing bad guys and creeps ever closer to popping Alex the question. In the sixth season opener finds Walker running interference between a grieving family and the mobster (Patrick St. Esprit) who killed one of their members. Disc 1 includes the following episodes: "The Wedding: Part 2," "Trackdown," "Royal Heist" and "War Cry." Disc 2 includes the following episodes: "Code Of The West," "The Children Of Halloween," "Survival" and "Second Chance." Disc 3 includes the following episodes: "Paradise Trail," "Eyes Of A Ranger," "On the Border," "Lost Boys" and "Special Witness." Disc 4 includes the following episodes: "The Principal," "Team Cherokee: Part 1," "Team Cherokee: Part 2," "Livegirls.now" and "No Way Out." Disc 5 includes the following episodes: "Brothers In Arms," "Mind Games," "Power Angels," "Jacob's Ladder" and "In Harm's Way: Part 1." Paramount/CBS

My Three Sons First Season Volume 2 Premiering in 1960 and setting the template for family sitcoms, this comedy series starred Fred MacMurray as Steve Douglas, a widower raising three sons on his own. When not holding down a job as an aeronautics engineer, Steve is holding down the fort as his sons get into mischief and offering sagely advice for their youthful dilemmas. Lucky for Steve, his ornery, live-in father-in-law "Bub" is there to help keep the disorder to a minimum. One of TV's longest-running series at the time, My Three Sons eventually burst the bounds of its premise in the 1970s, as Mike, Robbie, and Chip grew up and started families of their own. Return to the Douglas household for the second half of this Golden Globe-winning series's debut season, as single father Steve (Fred MacMurray) dishes out paternal wisdom with a little help from his affable father-in-law, Bub (William Frawley). The long-running family comedy starts out on a serious note, exploring the challenges faced by 18-year-old Mike, 14-year-old Robbie and 7-year-old Chip as they grow up without Mom around. Disc 1 includes the following episodes: "Organization Women," "Other People's Houses," "The Delinquent," "Man In A Trench Coat," "Deadline" and "The Lostling." Disc 2 includes the following episodes: "Off-Key," "Small Adventure," "Soap-Box Derby," "Unite or Sink," "The Wiley Method" and "The National Pastime." Disc 3 includes the following episodes: "The Croaker," "The Musician," "The Horseless Saddle," "Trial By Separation," "The Sunday Drive" and "Fire Watch." Paramount/CBS

Mirrors Kiefer Sutherland stars as Ben Carson, a disgraced former New York City cop who attempts to put his checkered past behind him by taking a job as a security guard. Carson is required to take the night shift in a department store in the city. The store closed down after a fire put an end to its business, and Carson soon discovers that malevolent spirits are lurking behind its walls. The spirits connect with the human world through the mirrors in the store, and when they discover Carson's presence they go after his ex-wife, Amy (Paula Patton), and his kids (played by Erica Gluck and Cameron Boyce). Carson attempts to figure out the meaning of a cryptic message carved into one of the mirrors, hoping it will save his family and cut off contact with the malignant lurking presence. Aja successfully replicates much of the tension and edge-of-your-seat moments that he managed so skillfully in Haute Tension. The film begins with an unnerving set piece in which Carson's predecessor takes a shard of mirror and slashes his own throat, and it's an indication of the gore-filled fun that awaits intrepid viewers. Aja creates a palpable sense of unease by shooting dim-lit set pieces in the department store. Sutherland makes for a convincing lead in a character that closely resembles his turn as Jack Bauer in 24. There are plenty of genuine scares in the film, and the director ultimately spins Mirrors as a cross between a psychological thriller in the vein of the Poltergeist movies and a no-holds-barred splatter flick. Fox

On Trial: Lee Harvey Oswald Among the most heinous criminal acts ever committed on American soil is the assassination of United States President John F. Kennedy on November 22, 1963. When accused gunman Lee Harvey Oswald was himself shot to death two days later while in police custody, Americans were denied hard answers to a brutal and bewildering mystery. On Trial: Lee Harvey Oswald recalls all of the surviving witnesses to determine the guilt or innocence of the man believed to have murdered JFK. First broadcast by the Showtime cable network in 1986 to mark the 23rd anniversary of the assassination of John F. Kennedy, On Trial: Lee Harvey Oswald is a daring, one-of-a-kind experiment with the goal to heal a nation. MPI

Supercop Director Stanley Tong's wildly successful collaboration with international action hero Jackie Chan gets off to a flying start in Supercop, the story of an affable, tenacious, and unstoppable Hong Kong cop's quest to bring down the biggest drug syndicate in the Pacific Rim. Kevin Chan (Chan) and a stunningly beautiful female police officer from mainland China, Hanna Yang (Michelle Khan), pose as brother and sister to infiltrate the crooked operation and once there unleash their spectacular arsenal of high-kicking, bone-rattling kung fu. Chan, whose irresistible onscreen persona suggests a hybrid cinematic reincarnation of Buster Keaton and Bruce Lee, was already the biggest box-office draw in the world when SupercoP (originally produced in 1992) gained a U.S. theatrical release in 1996. The film displays Chan's dual mastery of physical comedy and martial arts while also (in outtakes shown behind the closing credits) showcasing his notorious predilection for handling his own stunts. Chan's daredevil approach was shared in the film by his breathtaking costar, Khan, also known as Michelle Yeoh, a former Miss Malaysia who would go on to solidify her reputation as a peerless action star in her own right with the stupendous critical and popular success of the 1999 film Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon. Weinstein/Genius

Bachelorman Ted Davis (David DeLuise) is not crazy enough to think he's God's gift to women - just optimistic enough to think that women are God's gift to him. However one day a mysterious brunette named Heather (Missi Pyle) moves in next door. She's beautiful, long-legged, athletic, and loud. She is the ultimate Bachelorette Woman, and as Ted tries all the tricks in his bag to woo Heather, comedy ensues. Rodney Lee Conover and Tempestt Bledsoe costar. Magnolia

The Last Enemy Set in the very near future, this riveting thriller explores how technology and terror could transform civilization into a dystopian society of constant surveillance. Reclusive, brilliant mathematician Stephen Ezard returns home to England to attend his brother Michael's funeral, an aid worker killed by a landmine in Afghanistan. Stephen struggles to reconcile his carefully controlled world with a brother he did not know, in a police-state London he does not recognize. Soon he finds himself falling in love with his brother's widow, Yasim; lured into becoming the public face of the government super-database. WGBH Boston

How'd They Build That? Big Truck Kids and even adults will enjoy this trip to the Springfield, Ohio, Navistar plant to watch big transport trucks being made. The visit follows the entire assembly line, from raw materials worked by robots to the finished product. Colorful 3-D computer graphic imagery enhances high-definition live-action footage of the construction process, revealing what it really takes to build these monstrous machines of the highway. Marvelous Media

How'd They Build That? Fire Truck Kids are captivated by fire trucks, and this tour of Seagrave Fire Apparatus, one of the country's foremost manufacturers, shows them how they're built. Unlike other vehicles made by assembly lines, fire trucks are each custom crafted. Seagrave's designers take viewers through design and assembly stations, explain the functions of various equipment and even jump into the cab for a driver's-eye view. Marvelous Media

Baghead Following up on the surprise success of their micro-budget production The Puffy Chair (2005), brothers Jay and Mark Duplass turn their handheld DV camera toward skewering the pretentiousness of the independent film world while tossing in a few horror film scares for good measure. The result is entertaining and unique, with enough laughs, insight, and excitement for adventurous viewers. After seeing the accolades heaped up on a colleague for his laughable film (We Are Naked) at a Los Angeles film festival, Matt (Ross Partridge) decides that he can do better. With his sometime girlfriend, Catherine (Elise Muller), and friends Michelle (Greta Gerwig), and Chad (Steve Zissis) in tow, they immediately set off to a cabin in the woods for the weekend to create the film that will make them all famous on the festival circuit. While Chad focuses his energy on winning the affections of uninterested Michelle, Matt comes up with the cinematic construct of a stranger with a paper bag on his head terrorizing a group of people in the woods. After the initial evening of alcoholic brainstorming, though, the idea becomes reality, and the friends' relationships are tested as they find themselves in a truly scary situation. Sony

The Films of Michael Powell: Age of Consent Desperate for inspiration, artist Bradley Morahan (James Mason) leaves New York City and moves to a small island off the coast of his native Australia, where he discovers a muse in a beautiful 17-year-old named Cora Ryan (Helen Mirren). But Bradley's newfound bliss is interrupted by the dishonest dealings of an old friend and the protests of Cora's grandmother. Director Michael Powell's 1969 romantic drama marks Mirren's first major screen role. & A Matter of Life and Death (Stairway to Heaven) Royal Air Force pilot Peter Carter (David Niven) is forced to jump out of his plane without a parachute only to wake up alive and unharmed due to a heavenly mishap. He must then stand before God (Abraham Sofaer) to plead his case for a second chance at life. Kim Hunter co-stars as June, an American operator with whom Peter has fallen in love, in this British romantic fantasy by Michael Powell and Emeric Pressburger. Sony

Dallas Season 10 The Dallas folks celebrate a decade of backstabbing, lies, greed and lust with a Season 10 of the smash hit prime-time soap opera that sizzles with intrigue. Season 10 kicks off with Pam (Victoria Principal) waking one morning to find Bobby (Patrick Duffy) in the shower, revealing that the entire ninth season was Pam's nightmare. Meanwhile, Sue Ellen (Linda Gray) opens a lingerie business using J.R.'s (Larry Hagman) one-time mistress Mandy (Deborah Shelton) as her top model, and Ray and Donna (Steve Kanaly and Susan Howard) deal with marital problems. J.R. spreads his brand of poison far from Big D, throwing big bucks at a twisted mercenary eager to blow up Saudi oilfields. The Feds get wind of the plot, they lean on J.R. until he sings like a Texas mockingbird and the mercenary decides the world would be a better place without J.R. And there's another troublemaker making life interesting in Texas: a leather-tough, white-haired ranch hand. He has Jock's letters, belt buckle, knife... and memories. Could it be Jock survived that years-ago 'copter crash or an imposter? Disc 1 includes the following episodes: "Return to Camelot, Part 1," "Return to Camelot, Part 2," "Pari Per Sue," "Once and Future King," "Enigma," "Trompe L'Oeil," "Territorial Imperative," "The Second Time Around," "Bells Are Ringing" and "Who's Who at the Oil Baron's Ball?" Disc 2 includes the following episodes: "Proof Positive," "Something Old, Something New," "Bar-B-Cued," "The Fire Next Time," "So Shall Ye Reap," "Tick, Tock," "Night Visitor," "Cat and Mouse," "High Noon For Calhoun" and "Olio." Disc 3 includes the following episodes: "A Death in the Family," "Revenge of the Nerd," "The Ten Percent Solution," "Some Good, Some Bad," "War and Peace," "Ruthless People," "The Dark at the End of the Tunnel," "Two-Fifty" and "Fall of the House of Ewing." Warner

Righteous Kill Two New York City police detectives--Turk (Robert De Niro) and Rooster (Al Pacino)--attempt to track down a serial killer who targets only vicious criminals. This enigmatic vigilante has earned the duo's respect, yet they are duty-bound to apprehend the criminal-hunting assailant, and in doing so they strain the bonds of their longtime partnership. Aiding Turk and Rooster are a fiery younger pair of detectives (Donnie Wahlberg and John Leguizamo) and investigator Karen Correlli (Carla Gugino), who are determined to see that justice is served. The second face-to-face film pairing of De Niro and Pacino the first being Michael Mann's gritty 1995 epic, Heat, Righteous Kill finds the revered veteran actors working within the confines of a police procedural. Anchor Bay

The Alphabet Killer A ten year old girl is found brutally murdered outside the small blue-collar city of Rochester, New York, and obsessed police detective Megan Paige (Eliza Dushku) suffers a mental breakdown while trying to solve the crime. But when the child-killings resume two years later, Megan's return to the investigation also brings back her own horrific hallucinations. Even if she can prove a 'double initial' connection to the slayings, will she hang onto her sanity long enough to catch a psychopath? Cary Elwes, Michael Ironside, Bill Moseley, Carl Lumbly, and Timothy Hutton co-star in this chilling thriller directed by Rob Schmidt. Anchor Bay

Hellbound Hellraiser II Beginning just hours after the original Hellraiser ended, Hellbound finds young Kristy (Laurence) waking up in a mental institution because she insisted on describing her parents murderers as pain-loving demons from hell to the authorities. Unfortunately, she has been placed in the car of Dr. Channard, who has devoted his life to solving the Lament Configuration, the key to the doorway of hell, and now, with Kristy, he believes he has found another key. Resuscitating the skinless corpse of her stepmother, Julia, Dr. Channard succeeds in opening a doorway to hell, one that Julia, Channard, Kristy, and her mute friend Tiffany all travel through. Based on a story by Clive Barker, Hellbound is both a continuation of the original as well as a much different take on its story and universe. Here, the film fashions itself after an Alice In Wonderland type fairy tale as it focuses on Kristy and Tiffany's adventures in hell as well as on the lives of the Cenobites. Infamously gory, surreal, and often horrifying, Hellbound is a satisfying sequel to one of the most original horror films of the 1980s. Anchor Bay

Balls Out Ever since a notorious incident drove him off the tennis court years ago, Gary has been laboring as a raunchy high school janitor. But when the current coach drops dead, Gary steps in and is tasked with whipping the dork-tastic team into shape. As Gary leads the squad to the state tennis championship, his bizarre coaching methods draw the ire of teachers, parents and even his own team in this balls-out comedy. Starring Seann William Scott and Randy Quaid. Sony

Matlock Season 2 There are TV lawyers and then there's Matlock. Folksy yet aggressive, Harvard educated but still down to earth--Andy Griffith's portrayal of the clever Southern attorney is one of the all-time classic icons of television legal dramas. From his simple gray Ford to his predilection for hot dogs, Matlock comes across as both a personable and humorous character whose $100,000 fee is always worth the dough. The cases no one could solve, the clients no one could help, and the scandals no one could uncover are all deftly handled by Matlock and his team--including private investigator Tyler Hudson (Kene Holliday) and legal assistant Michelle Thomas (Nancy Stafford). Ben Matlock (Andy Griffith) returns to wow the courtroom with a second season of masterly defense tactics. This year, he tries to prove that a blind man committed the perfect murder, finds that a dead umpire had plenty of enemies, and solves a murder at his law school reunion. Disc 1 includes the following episodes: "The Billionaire," "Blind Justice" and "The Husband."
