The Odd Couple Centennial Collection After being thrown out of his home and marriage, fastidious Felix decides the only thing for him to do is to move in with his best friend, Oscar Madison, a divorced man living alone in an upper eastside apartment. Oscar is a total slob, with week old sandwiches under his pillows, while Felix is a compulsive cleaner, constantly vacuuming, dusting and polishing. The question is: Can these men live together without killing each other? Paramount

Andy Richter Control The Universe The Complete Series Stepping out of his sidekick role on Late Night With Conan O'Brien, Andy Richter moved off the couch and into an office chair as a hapless corporate copywriter in this short-lived sitcom. While his days may have been spent producing lifeless prose for instructional manuals, Andy's overactive imagination--and aspirations to be a short-story writer--relieved the tedium of his day job and added a surreal overlay to the workplace comedy.

Supporting players included Andy's self-involved supervisor, Jessica Green (Paget Brewster), the office pretty-boy, Keith (James Patrick Stuart), and his undead boss, Mr. Pickering (John Bliss). Disc 1 includes the following episodes: "Pilot," "Grief Counselor," "Little Andy In Charge," "Second Episode," "Gimme A C" and "Wedding." Additional Actors: Rick Hoffman, Jonathan Tipton Meyers, Jordan Moseley, April Audia. Disc 2 includes the following episodes: "We're All The Same, Only Different," "Twins," "France," "Holy Sheep," "Relationship Ripcord," "The Show Might Go On," "Crazy in Rio" and "The Maid Man." Additional Actors: Dawnn Lewis, Patricia Belcher, Mark Chaet, Stefan Marks. Disc 3 includes the following episodes: "Bully the Kid," "Duh Dog," "Final Fantasy," "Saturday Early Evening Fever" and "Charity Begins In D Block." Additional Actors: John Douglas Williams, Cory Parravano, Marilu Henner, Victoria Fischer. Paramount

Master of the Game At her 90th birthday celebration, matriarch Kate Blackwell (Dyan Cannon) recalls the epic story of her family, who rose to wealth and power in the South African diamond trade, thanks to the enterprising efforts of her Scottish father, Jamie McGregor (Ian Charleson). Co-starring Donald Pleasence as Jamie's rival and Harry Hamlin as Kate's weak-willed son, this lavish miniseries based on Sidney Sheldon's best-seller was shot on location in Africa. Paramount

From The Top At Carnegie Hall Season 2 This DVD offers an intimate, and often funny, glimpse at the lives of young musicians who pursue life with passion, dedication and joy. Hosted by concert pianist Christopher O'Riley, the program captures the excitement of their Carnegie Hall debut. Based on the popular NPR radio program, the TV series take viewers backstage and back home. You'll see a family bathroom double as the most acoustically pleasing rehearsal space in a young violinist's home; meet a trumpet player who performs in a Manhattan jazz club frequented by the likes of Tony Bennett; and visit with a spirited young marimba player who explains that rhythm exists not only on the performance stage but all around him, even as he does his chores. WGBH Boston

The Story of India For over two millennia, India has been at the center of world history. I've Loved You So Long Kristin Scott Thomas stars as Juliette, a woman who moves in with her sister, Léa (Elysa Zylberstein), after 15 years in prison. Léa's husband, Luc (Serge Hazanavicius), is not comfortable with Juliette's sudden appearance or her developing relationship with his and Léa's two young adopted Vietnamese children, P'tit Lys (Lise Ségur) and Emélia (Lily-Rose). Meanwhile, Léa's friend and coworker, Michel (Laurent Grevill), takes quite a liking to Juliette, as does her playful parole officer (Frédéric Pierrot), but Juliette is hesitant to make any new friends--she's harboring a secret that is tearing her apart. She does, however, find a kindred spirit in Luc's father, Papy Paul (Jean-Claude Arnaud), who has suffered a stroke and can no longer talk but still manages to communicate in unique and clever ways. Claudel allows the complex story to come together at a slow and steady pace, its power building to a tearjerking conclusion. Sony

Fractals Hunting The Hidden Dimension Determined to understand the repeating patterns he was finding in nature, French mathematician Benoit Mandelbrot used an early form of computer imagery to produce his own versions, coining the recurring shapes fractals. This installment of the PBS series "Nova" examines the rules of these self-similar patterns and explores the ways these fascinating geometric configurations can be applied in the fields of science, medicine and the arts. Nova

Jag Season 8 delves into the world of military justice with a stirring blend of action and drama. Created by TV stalwart Donald Bellisario, the series follows JAG (Judge Advocate General) officer Harmon "Harm" Rabb (David James Elliott) and his prim partner, Marine Lt. Colonel Sarah "Mac" Mackenzie (Catherine Bell), as they investigate and prosecute military crimes within the Marine Corps and Navy. Assisting the often-clashing pair is lawyer Lt. Bud Roberts (Patrick Labyorteaux) who, at the start of season eight, is fighting for his life after being critically wounded in season seven's cliffhanger. Navy Cmdr. Harmon "Harm" Rabb (David James Elliott) and Marine Lt. Col. Sarah "Mac" MacKenzie (Catherine Bell) continue working together to investigate and litigate military crimes. In the eighth season of the popular series, Bud's (Patrick Labyorteaux) life hangs in the balance after his leg is blown off by a land mine. Meanwhile, Mac and Harm defend a Marine corporal charged with desertion who's become a hero in the Israeli army. The Other End of the Line A charming comedy about global love connections. As the film opens we meet Granger Woodruff, an advertising hotshot desperate to win over a demanding new client (Larry Miller). Halfway around the world, someone else is taking an active interest in Granger: Priya Sethi, an India-based service rep for one of Granger's credit cards. When Priya--pretending to be San Franciscan "Jennifer David" contacts Granger about fraudulent charges, they strike up a casual flirtation that causes both to question their respective romantic prospects: he, a diva-like girlfriend (Sara Foster); she, an arranged marriage to a mama's boy of a suitor. Priya impulsively accepts Granger's invitation to meet her in San Francisco, where she accidentally meets him not as her alter ego but as her idealistic self. But with Priya's traditionalist family and Granger's domineering girlfriend in hot pursuit, it isn't long before the two are forced to confront their true identities and intentions. And as the cultural divide widens between them, Priya and Granger must find the courage to build a bridge across the hurdles to their budding relationship. With its appealing leads and amusing supporting cast, The Other End Of The Line is a sweet-natured romantic fantasy that poses real questions about how love and truth can bring individuals and cultures together in today's world. Fox
