Girlfriends 4th Season The lives and loves of four feisty African-American women, and their male friend, form the hit formula for this long-running sitcom. Golden Brooks, Jill Jones, Traci Ellis Ross, and Persia White play the foursome navigating the sometimes choppy waters of life in Los Angeles. Joan (Ross) succeeds in her career as a lawyer, but she struggles to find that same success in love. Surrounding her is her independent assistant, Maya (Brooks); intelligent but flighty roommate, Lynn (White); and man-crazy friend, Toni (Jones). Though William (Reggie Hayes) spends a lot of his time with the girls, he still hasn't learned everything there is to know about women. This collection presents the fourth season of this irreverent and heartwarming comedy. Disc 1 includes episodes: "Some Enchanted Evening," "If It's Broke, Fix It," "Snoop, There It Is," "You Ain't Gotta Go Home But... You Know The Rest!," "Hopelessly Devoted To Two," "Inherit The Lynn," "And Baby Makes Four" and "Viva Las Vegas." Additional Actors: Saul Williams, Adrian Lester, Malik Yoba, Jason Pace. Disc 2 includes episodes: "Between Brock And A Hard Place," "Don't You Want Me, Baby?," "Merry Exmas," "Prophet And Loss," "A Comedy Of Eros," "Leggo My Ego," "Good Catch Or Bad Hop?" and "On The Couch." Additional Actors: Malik Yoba, Jason Pace, Tanner Scott Richards, CCH Pounder, Julie Hagerty. Disc 3 includes episodes: "Love, Peace, And Hair Grease," "Weiners And Losers," "He Loves Her, He Loves Her Not," "The Partnerless Partner," "Just The Three Of Us," "Love Thy Neighbor" and "New York Bound/ New York Unbound." Additional Actors: Jason Pace, Jill Scott, Shawn Harrison, Tanner Scott Richards, Julie Hagerty, Cindy Williams. Paramount

Beverly Hills 90210 Season 5 Television producer extraordinaire Aaron Spelling launched a pop-culture phenomenon with his 1990s teen soap opera Beverly Hills 90210, a landmark series that not only set the standard for '90s teen culture, but singlehandedly wrote the template for later shows like Dawson's Creek and The O.C. Created by Darren Star, the glitzy series chronicled the coming-of-age dramas of Minnesota siblings Brandon (Jason Priestley) and Brenda Walsh (Shannen Doherty) as they adjusted to their new lives in the affluent environs of the zip code of the title, where they attended the fictional West Beverly High with a tight-knit group of teenage friends: good natured jock Steve Sanders (Ian Ziering); brainy good-girl Andrea Zuckerman (Gabrielle Carteris); naive virgin Donna Martin (Tori Spelling); aspiring DJ David Silver (Brian Austin Green); blonde siren Kelly Taylor (Jennie Garth); and troubled bad-boy Dylan McKay (Luke Perry). Like Degrassi, the series attempted social commentary by crafting storylines featuring a wide range of issues affecting '90s teens, including alcoholism, drug abuse, sex, and depression. This fifth season offers plenty of drama as the privileged pals (now in college) braving the pressures of the adult world, and struggling to redefine themselves in the face of personal changes. Tiffani Thiessen joins the cast of America's favorite teen soap opera to help fill the void left by departed Shannen Doherty, who was written out of the show following the fourth season. Concerned about his substance abuse, the gang organizes an intervention for Dylan; racial violence erupts on the campus of California University; and the love triangle between Dylan, Brandon and Kelly threatens to cause a permanent rift within the group. Paramount

Cocaine Cowboys 2: Hustlin' with the Godmother Charles Cosby's life is changed forever when he writes a fan letter to the "Cocaine Godmother" Griselda Blanco, who is serving time in a federal prison. Six months later, Cosby is a multi-millionaire, Blanco's lover, and the head of her $40 million a year cocaine business. Also known as "The Black Widow" for her propensity to permanently dispose of her men when she's done with them, Blanco stops at nothing to ensure that Charles is faithful. Cosby soon learns he's in way over his head. Magnolia

Surfwise Legendary surfer, Dorian "Doc" Paskowitz, abandoned a successful medical practice to withdraw from the lifestyle of mainstream America. But unlike other American searchers such as Thoreau and Kerouac, Paskowitz took his wife and nine children along for the ride, all eleven of them living in a 24-foot camper. The family spent their days living by Doc's rules on health, fitness, sexuality, and above all surfing. The Paskowitzs' prove that America may be running out of frontiers, but it hasn't run out of frontiersmen. Magnolia

Cracking The Maya Code The ancient Maya civilization of Central America left behind a riddle: an intricate and mysterious hieroglyphic script carved on stone monuments and painted on pottery and bark books. Because the invading Spanish suppressed nearly all knowledge of how the script worked, unlocking its meaning posed one of archaeology's fiercest challenges. Until now. For the first time, NOVA presents the epic inside story of how the decoding was done, told by the experts at the center of one of archaeology's greatest detective stories. Cracking the Maya Code highlights the ingenious breakthroughs that opened the door to deciphering the elaborate and exotic script and finally cracked the code, unleashing a flood of dramatic new insights about the ancient civilization. Once thought to record the esoteric calculations of mystical astronomer-priests presiding over peaceful jungle cities, an utterly different, war-torn world is revealed, unveiling details of conquests, raids, and dynastic rivalries spanning centuries. With lush footage of Maya temples and art, the program exposes the hidden face of the Maya and highlights the brilliant leaps of insight that opened the door to deciphering their elaborate and exotic script. WGBH Boston

Our Spirits Don't Speak English: Indian Boarding School Our Spirits Don't Speak English: Indian Boarding School is a Native American perspective on Indian Boarding Schools. This DVD produced by Rich-Heape Films, Inc. uncovers the dark history of U.S. Government policy which took Indian children from their homes, forced them into boarding schools and enacted a policy of educating them in the ways of Western Society. This DVD gives a voice to the countless Indian children forced through a system designed to strip them of their Native American culture, heritage and traditions. Rich-Heape Films

Soul Food The Series: The Final Season Showtime's popular dramatic series picks up where the 1997 film left off, dramatically chronicling the ups and downs of the Josephs, a close-knit black family living in Chicago. Vanessa Williams, Nicole Ari Parker, and Malinda Williams star as caring sisters who always lend a helping hand when it comes to family. This collection presents the acclaimed series' fourth and final season, featuring guest appearances by Common, Jim Brown, and Mario Van Peebles. Disc 1 includes the following episodes: "Pagan Poetry," "Two To Tango," "The Son Also Rises" and "We Plan." Disc 2 includes the following episodes: "Decisions and Choices," "A Rock Hard Place," "Survival Technique" and "Angelitos Negros." Disc 3 disc includes the following episodes: "Successful Failure," "Love Me or Leave Me" and "Take It To The Limit." Disc 4 includes the following episodes: "In The Garden," "Fear Eats The Soul" and "Don't Think This Hasn't Been Fabulous." Paramount

The Deal The head of Britain's Labour Party has suddenly died. The two possible successors, political rivals Tony Blair (Michael Sheen) and Gordon Brown (David Morrissey), meet at a fateful 1994 dinner to debate the fate of the country, while flashbacks recount the story of their friendship. This absorbing political drama was meticulously adapted from real events by Peter Morgan and directed by Stephen Frears -- the same team behind The Queen. Genius

Picture This High School Musical star Ashley Tisdale is...grounded. This madcap teen comedy stars Tisdale as Mandy, a girl who is invited to a big bash by Drew, the dreamiest dreamboat the halls of Mandy's high school have ever seen. In order for the evening to go well, however, Mandy's going to have to deal with Drew's bitter ex-girlfriends, thwart her overprotective father, and take on any other challenge that might get in between her and the man of her dreams in this randy romp from director Stephen Herek. Fox

The Mummy In the 1920s, a group of archaeologists led by adventurer Rick O'Connell (Brendan Fraser) discovers the mummified body of Imhotep, an Egyptian priest who was cursed for falling in love with the Pharaoh's mistress. When they accidentally resurrect him, the battle for survival begins, as the mummy begins to use his powers to reclaim his long-lost love. Director Stephen Sommers updates this classic Universal monster for the 1990s, using a dazzling array of computer-generated special effects. Fun performances from Fraser and Weisz add to the tongue-in-cheek Saturday matinee appeal. Universal

The Mummy Returns is a fast-paced sequel that surpasses the hit 1999 original, both directed by Stephen Sommers. Virtually the entire cast has come back for another exciting go-round, this time trying to prevent Imhotep (Arnold Vosloo) from gaining control of the Bracelet of Anubis and taking on the Scorpion King (the Rock) for control of the world. But to gain that power, Imhotep and his vicious true love, Anck-Su-Namun (Patricia Velasquez), must get to the Oasis of Ahm Shere before Rick O'Connell (Brendan Fraser), his wife, Evie (Rachel Weisz), their son, Alex (Freddie Boath), the mysterious Ardeth Bay (Oded Fehr), and Evie's brother, Jonathan (John Hannah, who provides much of the comic relief). Set in 1933, The Mummy Returns combines elements of the Star Wars and Indiana Jones films in letting loose a scintillating thrill-ride of a movie, chock-full of terrific special effects and marvelous locations (Morocco, Jordan, and London), erupting in a spirited tale of flight and fantasy, sword and sorcery. The addition of Freddie Boath to the cast increases the suspense as well as the comedy; his scenes with the evil Lock-Nah (fiercely played by OZ veteran Adewale Akinnuoye-Agbaje) are among the best in the film. The Mummy Returns also features professional wrestler the Rock as the Scorpion King, who was defeated in 3067 BC and is ready to be resurrected in the Year of the Scorpion. Universal

Sesame Street Elmo's World Summer Vacation Toddlers and young children will enjoy hearing all about Elmo's summer vacation in this highly entertaining and educational video featuring everyone's favorite furry red Sesame Street character, set at the beach. With some upbeat music and the help of his goldfish, Dorothy, Elmo teaches children how to put their towel down in the sand, how to take a photograph and even how to scratch their own backs. Genius

LA Ink Season One The rebellious, tattoo-sleeved Kat Von D is a force to be reckoned with. She made her first tattoo--of the Misfits band skull logo--at age 14 with a homemade rig, so it's going to take much more than a fall-out with the crew of the hit series Miami Ink to keep this tenacious wild child out of the public eye. After leaving that Florida-based show at the end of the second season, Kat moved to Los Angeles, opened her own tattoo parlor and--voila!--LA Ink was born. Now she's doing things her own way. Kick off with Kat as she gets her bearings in the position of owner of a brand new business in the first season of this colorful reality series. Disc 1 includes the following episodes: "Welcome Home Kat," "Nowhere to Work," "LA Ink Grand Opening," "Boobs Rule" and "Master Cleanse." Additional Actors: Eric Balfour, Jesse Metcalfe. Disc 2 includes the following episodes: "Corey's Vasectomy," "Pixie's Surgery," "Kat's Gnarly Day" and "Kim Looks for Love." Additional Actors: Frank Iero. Disc 3 includes the following episodes: "Kat's in Love," "Holly's Here," "Pixie's Got the Blues" and "Big Decisions." Additional Actors: Sebastian Bach. Genius

War Games 25th Anniversary Edition Matthew Broderick stars as David Lightman, a young hacker who accidentally logs on to the Department of Defense's network. Thinking that he's found a cool new computer game manufacturer, David plays checkers, chess, and other more intriguing games like Global Thermonuclear War. Realizing that their system has been tampered with, military operatives arrest him. However, the computer continues to play the "game" of thermonuclear warfare without David and generates the very real threat of World War III. In an attempt to prevent global disaster, David and his girlfriend, Jennifer (Ally Sheedy), search desperately for the scientist who designed the system before the government computer initiates a full-scale nuclear war. A landmark of 1980s cinema, WarGames was keenly tuned into its time. Computers remained a relative mystery in the early 1980s, as they were used primarily by large corporations and government agencies, but not by many individuals at home. The general public had already been warned of the danger of computer takeover in 1968 with 2001: A Space Odyssey and this paranoia grew as computers became more popular. The threat of communist takeover and nuclear war loomed large in the collective consciousness, before the fall of the Berlin Wall and the end of the cold war. Video games had become highly popular, however, and for a generation of Pac-Man and Space Invaders players WarGames combined the country's deepest fears with its biggest fantasies. Badham's suspenseful film brings those fears to light in an exciting, fast-paced film with a great cast (Broderick, Sheedy, John Wood, Barry Corbin, Dabney Coleman) and excellent special effects. Disc 1: WarGames Theatrical Presentation, Additional Release Material: Audio Commentaries, John Badham, Director; Lawrence Lasker, Walter F. Parkes – Screenwriters. Disc 2: WarGames Supplemental Material Additional Release Material: Documentaries "Loading WarGames", "Inside NORAD: Cold War Fortress", Featurettes "Attack of the Hackers", "Tic Tac Toe: A True Story". Trailers Sneak Peek at WarGames 2: The Dead Code, Theatrical Trailer. Interactive Features: Interactive Menues, Interactive Superpower Weapons Briefing Gallery. Fox

War Games: The Dead Code Arriving twenty-five years after WarGames, the Matthew Broderick-starring backdoor thriller, this sequel finds yet another brilliant young computer hacker who may end up starting World War III via a government simulation war game. This time, Will Farmer inadvertently engages Ripley, an overly sensitive supercomputer that was designed to detect and handle terrorist attacks. Fox

64 Zoo Lane Every night, little Lucy climbs out of her bedroom window to the zoo next door, where caring friends such as Boris the bear, Harriet the hippo and Nelson the elephant tell her charming stories about different animals from around the world. In addition to promoting the enjoyment of language and building vocabulary comprehension, this delightful animated series teaches children important lessons about friendship, responsibility and helping others. Porchlight

Celine: The Unauthorized Life Story of Celine Dion Christine Ghawi stars as Canadian songstress Céline Dion in this unauthorized biopic that traces the singer's rise from obscurity to superstardom, and also chronicles her business relationship turned romance with manager René Angélil (Enrico Colantoni). Born the youngest of 14 children in Charlemagne, Quebec, the French-speaking Céline eventually found success in the English-speaking world, selling more than 200 million albums worldwide. Monarch

I, Robot is an action-packed, CGI-laden thrill ride from director Alex Proyas (THE CROW). Set in 2035, Will Smith stars as Chicago law enforcer Detective Del Spooner. Called upon to investigate the mysterious suicide of scientist Dr. Alfred Lanning (James Cromwell), Spooner deduces that Lanning didn't kill himself but was, in fact, murdered. Lanning worked for the US Robotics headquarters, where he constructed friendly robots designed to help humans with mundane tasks. Lanning's creations are prevalent all over the city, and have been fully integrated into the culture. They are allegedly programmed not to harm humans, but as Spooner digs deeper, his investigations lead him to a new type of robot that Lanning was working on before his death, and one of these models--the highly charismatic Sonny--becomes the prime suspect in the case. Spooner bears a grudge against robots due to an unfortunate incident, so his case against Sonny is met with shrugs of indifference from colleagues who know his prejudices all too well. Fortunately he meets an ally, and a romantic interest, in Dr. Susan Calvin (Bridget Moynahan), who agrees to help him. As Sonny is cured of his violent tendencies, the other robots amass across the city, working on the assumption that they need to control humanity in order to safeguard its future. Director Proyas unleashes a fearsome arsenal of special effects, while Spooner and Calvin chase the errant robots all over the city. Sonny's facial features and voice are digitally manipulated from the actor Alan Tudyk, lending an unnerving element of humanity to the character. Smith and Moynahan give convincing performances throughout, and as the action races towards a nail-biting conclusion. Man On Fire John Creasy (Denzel Washington) is a lost soul. A former government operative, he has become an alcoholic nomad, searching for inspiration and redemption. An old friend (Christopher Walken) who lives in Mexico gets Creasy a job as a bodyguard for nine-year-old Lupita "Pita" Ramos (Dakota Fanning), the daughter of Mexican Samuel (Marc Anthony) and his American wife Lisa (Radha Mitchell). Creasy's primary job is to protect Pita from the kidnapping attempts that are an increasing menace to the children of Mexico City's wealthy. A man of few words and many secrets, Creasy initially balks at Pita's attempts to befriend him, but soon a bond grows between the precocious child and this lonely man who is tormented by his past. When Pita is kidnapped despite Creasy's valiant attempts to save her, he will do anything to bring all of those involved to justice. His fury unravels a net of almost unimaginable corruption and greed in the process. Director Tony Scott builds the relationship between Creasy and Pita in the first half of the film in order to justify Creasy's violent actions in the latter half, and in the process he does a fine job of keeping the film's tension consistently high. Additional Release Material: Trailers - High Definition Theatrical Trailers, & Theatrical Trailer. Fox

Commando Col. John Matrix (Arnold Schwarzenegger), the former leader of a special ops team, is vaulted back into action to save his young daughter (Alyssa Milano) who has been kidnapped. Her life is threatened lest John assassinate a South American president. Rather than being strong-armed into such a proposition, John takes matters (and lots of guns) into his own hands as he fights through the jungle against his enemies to save his daughter. Additional Release Material: Trailers, High Definition Theatrical Trailers, Theatrical Trailer, Interactive Features: Pop Ups - D-Box Motion Sensor Track. Fox

Patriot Games Ex-CIA agent Jack Ryan (Harrison Ford) is forced back into service when he saves the lives of the English minister to Northern Ireland and his family from a terrorist attack, killing one of the perpetrators in the process. The dead man's brother, also a member of an IRA splinter faction, vows revenge on Ryan and his family and pursues them to the United States. Ryan knows it is only a matter of time till he comes face to face with his nemesis... and that only one of them will come out alive. Based on Tom Clancy's bestselling novel. Special Notes: Prequel to the 1990 film The Hunt for Red October, also based on a novel by Tom Clancy. Hunt starred Alec Baldwin as Jack Ryan and featured Gates McFadden from TV's "Star Trek: the Next Generation" as Cathy Ryan. Baldwin, given the choice of Patriot Games or the Broadway revival of "Streetcar Named Desire," chose "Streetcar."

Only James Earl Jones as Admiral James Greer returns in Patriot Games. Harrison Ford returned to star in the next Jack Ryan film as well - A Clear and Present Danger shot in 1993. The film downplays the British-Irish political and social issues raised in the novel and focuses on the threat to the family unit instead. Captain Michael T. Sherman and Lieutenant James E. Brooks served as Navy technical advisors. Patriot Games is the first feature to film inside CIA headquarters. Top Gun Maverick (Tom Cruise) is a reckless F-14 pilot who flies by instinct and breaks all of the rules. While attending the Navy's elite air combat training academy, affectionately known as "Top Gun," Maverick romances the civilian astrophysics instructor (Kelly McGillis) and competes with crackerjack pilot Ice (Val Kilmer) for top honors. He is the quintessential rebel, upsetting senior officers with his antics and risk-taking while simultaneously amazing them with his skill. In the end, Maverick overcomes a tragic loss and his need to stand out in the crowd and proves that he can shine as part of a team. Anthony Edwards stars as Maverick's best friend and co-pilot, Goose, and Meg Ryan first garnered attention as Goose's wife, Carole. Superb state-of-the-art aerial photography makes TOP GUN, directed by Tony Scott, one of the most exciting and entertaining films of its genre. This top grossing movie of 1986 is allegedly based on a Navy fighter pilot program at the Miramar Naval Base in San Diego, California, and was filmed on location at the base. Paramount

Doomsday is Marshall's love letter to the post-apocalyptic action-exploitation films of the 1980s. Bubbling over with action, gore, and dark humor, his third film has all the bases covered for a fun, knowingly corny viewing experience. After a deadly plague results in the quarantine of the entire country of Scotland (in a scene reminiscent of I Am Legend), a wall is built around the country preventing anyone from going in or out. Thirty years later, the British government believes everyone within the wall to be dead, but when they find signs of life and learn of the possibility of a cure, a team of specially trained agents led by Eden Sinclair (Rhona Mitra) become the first outsiders to venture inside the country since the epidemic. They discover that there are plenty of survivors who have splintered into fierce, warlike tribes, living in a lawless society where cannibalism and murder are the order of the day. Astute viewers will have a blast playing "spot the influence," with loving, obvious nods to Escape From New York, Aliens, 28 Days Later, and the Mad Max films. At the film's halfway point, Marshall switches gears, transforming the film from a punk-informed futuristic action film into a medieval-style chase film, utilizing Scotland's castles and sumptuous green landscapes to the fullest. Mitra is an exciting physical presence as Eden, a female version of New York's Snake Plissken, and the great supporting cast includes Bob Hoskins and Malcolm McDowell. Universal

Law & Order Special Victims Unit Season 7 This award-winning show is a spin-off of NBC's incredibly popular and long-running crime drama, Law & Order. Starring Christopher Meloni and Mariska Hargitay (who won an Emmy for her work on the show) as Detectives Stabler and Benson, SVU focuses on the often shocking world of sex crimes. Rather than spending half the program's hour with the cops and the other half with the lawyers, the series stays with the police and the criminals they pursue for most of the show. Set in New York City, the gripping seventh season's cast features investigators John Munch (Richard Belzer) and Fin Tutuol (Ice-T), psychiatrist George Huang (B.D. Wong), and medical examiner Melinda Warner (Tamara Tunie), as well as an impressive roster of guest stars, including Marcia Gay Harden, Dean Cain, Brittany Snow, and Mark McGrath. Disc 1 includes the following episodes: "Demons," "Design," "911," "Ripped" and "Strain." Additional Actors: Mike Doyle, Robert Walden, Jim Moody. Disc 2 includes the following episodes: "Raw," "Name," "Starved" and "Rockabye." Additional Actors: Joselin Reyes, Stephen Gregory, John Cullum. Disc 3 includes the following episodes: "Storm," "Alien," "Infected" and "Blast." Additional Actors: Ned Eisenberg, Paula Garces, Heather Fairfield. Disc 4 includes the following episodes: "Taboo," "Manipulated," "Gone" and "Class." Additional Actors: Patricia Kalember, Annie Golden, Keisha Alfred. Disc 5 includes the following episodes: "Venom," "Fault," "Fat," "Web" and "Influence." Additional Actors: Joel de la Fuente, Donnetta Lavinia Grays, Jane Fergus. Universal
