The Pathfinder / The Song of Hiawatha - Pathfinder Epic adventures come alive in James Fenimore Cooper's dramatic tale starring Kevin Dillon, Graham Greene and Laurie Holden. Pathfinder, (Dillon), has been pitted against the unforgiving elements amidst an atmosphere of political treachery. Fleeing through the spectacular Niagara Gorge and escaping an Indian ambush, he and a cast of spirited characters reach the safety of Fort Oswego on the Lake Ontario shore. But the respite is short-lived and Pathfinder is soon dispatched on a mission across the storm-ridden lake - a mission that will help him realize his true destiny.

The Song of Hiawatha This screen adaptation of the epic poem by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow tells the tale of Hiawatha (Litefoot), a Native American brave, and his great love for the beautiful Minnehaha (Irene Bedard). Mill Creek

Gracie's Choice Gracie Thompson hasn't been so much brought up as dragged through life by her manipulative, drug-addled mother. Missing meals, dodging cops and landlords, changing schools the way most kids change socks, Gracie and her sister and brothers, each the product of a different dead-beat dad, seem to have hit the skids. Then Gracie makes a choice to get a job, succeed in school, find stability. And her choice isn't just for herself. At the age of 17, she decides to be the mother, emotionally and legally, her siblings never had. Inspired by a true story and powered by remarkable performances Kristen Bell (TV's Veronica Mars) as the determined Gracie, Anne Heche in an Emmy-nominated performance as her nightmarish mother - Gracie's Choice champions the magic of love in even the most desperate circumstances. Meet Gracie. And share the magic. Mill Creek

Double Feature: Dad / I'm Not Rappaport: Dad With an extraordinary performance from Academy Award® winner Jack Lemmon, this critically acclaimed drama is the heartwarming story between father and son. When workaholic John Tremont's (Ted Danson) mother (Olympia Dukakis) is unexpectedly hospitalized, he returns home to care for his aging father (Lemmon). As John teaches his father to regain his independence, the two of them form a friendship and John realizes what's missing from his own life. Dad reminds us all of the importance of family in this moving story co-starring Kathy Baker, Kevin Spacey and Ethan Hawke.

I'm Not Rappaport: Eighty-one-year-old Nat Moyer (Walter Matthau) is a compulsive and fanciful talker, a feisty philosopher, and a troublemaker given to assuming personalities. His daily companion on a bench in New York's Central Park is Midge Carter (Ossie Davis), a half-blind apartment house superintendent. Midge's approach to life is realistic and down-to-earth, making him the perfect foil for Nat. With vaudevillian flair, these appealing oldsters outrageously take on the world and its multiple threats drug dealers and muggers, enlightened children, forced retirement, and the specter of the old folks' home. Also features Amy Irving, Craig T. Nelson and Martha Plimpton.

The Color of Magic / Hogfather Terry Pratchett's Some wizards are born heroes. Others must fight for greatness, like failed sorcerer Rincewind (David Jason). When a gung-ho visitor to the Discworld (Oscar-Nominee Sean Astin, Lord Of The Rings) enlists him as a guide, Rincewind learns that only he can take on dark wizard Trymon (Tim Curry) and restore balance to the troubled land. Based on Terry Pratchett's classic story, this adventure is packed with angry Druids, Barbarians, fire breathing dragons and mountain trolls.

Hogfather From the imagination of best-selling author Terry Pratchett comes Hogfather, a magical and witty tale unlike anything you've seen before. It's the holiday of Hogswatch in the parallel universe of Discworld, the night when kids anticipate presents from the beloved Hogfather. But someone - or something - wants the Hogfather out of the way. Now it's up to the most unlikely of heroes to get the holiday back on track before humanity loses all hope. Mill Creek
