Hellboy 2: The Golden Army With a signature blend of action, humor and character-based spectacle, the saga of the world's toughest, kitten-loving hero from Hell continues to unfold in "Hellboy 2: The Golden Army." Bigger muscle, badder weapons and more ungodly villains arrive in an epic vision of imagination from Oscar®-nominated director Guillermo del Toro ("Pan's Labyrinth," "Hellboy"). After an ancient truce existing between humankind and the invisible realm of the fantastic is broken, hell on Earth is ready to erupt. A ruthless leader who treads the world above and the one below defies his bloodline and awakens an unstoppable army of creatures. Now, it's up to the planet's toughest, roughest superhero to battle the merciless dictator and his marauders. He may be red. He may be horned. He may be misunderstood. But when you need the job done right, it's time to call in Hellboy (Ron Perlman). Along with his expanding team in the Bureau for Paranormal Research and Development--pyrokinetic girlfriend Liz (Selma Blair), aquatic empath Abe (Doug Jones) and protoplasmic mystic Johann the BPRD will travel between the surface strata and the unseen magical one, where creatures of fantasy become corporeal. And Hellboy, a creature of two worlds who's accepted by neither, must choose between the life he knows and an unknown destiny that beckons him.

Tropic Thunder Ben Stiller's satirical look at Hollywood, Tropic Thunder concerns the production of an epic Vietnam War film that quickly derails thanks to the giant egos of everyone involved in the production. Stiller stars as Tugg Speedman, an action hero trying to segue out of that genre. Jack Black plays Jeff Portnoy, a drug-addicted fat comic also attempting to change his image by taking on such a serious film. They star alongside Kirk Lazarus (Robert Downey Jr.), one of the world's most awarded actors, and a man who insists on immersing himself totally in a role. In this case, that means Lazarus has had his skin dyed in order to portray an African-American soldier. After their outrageous behavior lands the film's director, Damien Cockburn (Steve Coogan), in very hot water with producer Les Grossman (Tom Cruise), Cockburn takes the advice of grizzled Vietnam vet Four Leaf Tayback (Nick Nolte); in order to gain control of his performers, Cockburn drops the actors off in the jungle, planning to film the movie guerrilla-style with hidden cameras. When the group stumbles upon a heroin production camp, the actors are unaware that they are in very real danger.

The Bourne Collection The pulse-quickening saga of mysterious agent Jason Bourne (Matt Damon) unfolds in this complete trilogy set, featuring The Bourne Identity (2002), The Bourne Supremacy (2004), and The Bourne Ultimatum (2007), each in its entirety. Based on the action-packed novels of Robert Ludlum, the Bourne series follows an amnesiac CIA assassin fighting to discover his true identity before he's arrested or killed by the very people who trained him. The Bourne Identity As The Bourne Identity begins, a man who may or may not be Jason Bourne (Matt Damon) is found floating in the Mediterranean Sea and is hauled onto a fishing boat. When the ship's doctor examines the unconscious castaway, he discovers two bullet wounds and an implanted device that displays a Swiss bank account number. With nothing but this code, the amnesiac Bourne travels to Zurich and gains access to a safe-deposit box containing a gun, thousands of dollars in various currencies, and valid passports from numerous countries--each listing a different identity. Within minutes, Bourne is on the run from a seemingly ever-present agency, relying on language and fighting skills he didn't even know he possessed. Offering $20,000 for a ride to Paris, Bourne gains the reluctant help of the nomadic Marie (Franka Potente). Meanwhile, the shadowy organization, headed by a tough-talking bureaucrat (Chris Cooper), sends numerous assassins (including the Professor, played by Clive Owen) after Bourne and Marie. As their situation grows more perilous, the two strangers struggle to find out who Bourne really is and why they are being hunted. The Bourne Supremacy When a CIA sting in Berlin turns murderously wrong, everyone suspects it's the handiwork of Jason Bourne (Matt Damon). As the CIA hunts for their lost ex-killer Bourne, Bourne himself is pursued by a ruthless cartel bent on framing him up -- and leaving him dead. Franka Potente returns as Marie Helena Kreutz alongside Joan Allen as Agent Helen Landy. The Bourne Ultimatum The government's most wanted amnesiac super-spy returns in this thrilling third installment in the Jason Bourne franchise. The Bourne Ultimatum picks up where the The Bourne Supremacy left off, with Bourne once again racing around the globe, desperate to uncover the secrets of his identity. Having just lost his girlfriend and only companion, his search for answers is now fuelled by much more than his own self-preservation. The film kicks off with Bourne tracking down a British journalist (Paddy Considine) who he believes has valuable information about his past. He quickly discovers that the government conspiracy runs far deeper than he realized, and so begins a riveting, action-packed game of cat and mouse with the CIA. Bourne plows through the bad guys like a mini-tornado, and after some breathtaking fight sequences and several nail-biting car chases, he closes in on the truth in a climactic stand-off on the streets (and rooftops) of New York City. Universal

Planet of the Apes Collection A five tape collection of the series' five films: Planet Of The Apes, Beneath The Planet Of The Apes, Escape From The Planet Of The Apes, Conquest Of The Planet Of The Apes, and Battle For The Planet Of The Apes. Planet Of The Apes Charlton Heston stars in one of the '60s' most beloved camp classics. Bewildered astronaut George Taylor (Heston) crash-lands on a strange planet ruled by intelligent apes who use primitive humans for experimentation and sport. Taylor quickly finds himself among the hunted as he struggles to escape the apes' power -- and uncover their darkest secret. Beneath The Planet Of The Apes In this thrilling sequel to the original Planet of the Apes, astronaut Brent (James Franciscus) is sent on a mission to rescue the voyagers from the first film. When he crash-lands on the same planet ruled by highly evolved apes, he encounters an underground cult of mutant superhumans -- nuclear holocaust survivors living in Grand Central Station and worshipping the very atomic warhead that destroyed their world. Escape From The Planet Of The Apes In this third installment of the Planet of the Apes series, Cornelius (Roddy McDowall), Zira (Kim Hunter) and Milo (Sal Mineo) travel back in time to escape the destruction of their world. Landing in 20th century Los Angeles, they're treated as curiosities and celebrities at first, but soon become hunted by a suspicious and fearful government intent on making them the subjects of an experiment that could alter the course of human and ape events., Conquest Of The Planet Of The Apes An action-packed finale punctuates the simian saga's fourth installment, set in 1991. Thanks to an epidemic that eradicated cats and dogs, apes now serve as house pets -- and servants. That is, until their incessant maltreatment incites Caesar (Roddy McDowall), a highly developed primate from the future, to lead his brethren in a massive uprising against their human oppressors. Ricardo Montalban, Don Murray and Hari Rhodes costar., Battle For The Planet Of The Apes After the fall of humanity, Earth is run by highly evolved apes. But tensions have risen as the intelligent beasts, led by General Aldo (Claude Akins), threaten to enslave the remaining humans -- while a faction of human fighters have set their sights set on regaining the planet. The peaceful ape Caesar (Roddy McDowall) and his supporters may be the only chance of stopping a devastating war in this finale to the Planet of the Apes series. Fox

7th Heaven Seventh Season The heartwarming television dramedy 7th Heaven blends sometimes outlandishly comic situations with dramatic plotlines about serious social issues into a positive affirmation of family values and Christian morality. Produced by Aaron Spelling, the series centers on an all-American family headed by Reverend Eric Camden (Stephen Collins) and his stay-at-home wife, Annie (Catherine Hicks), as they struggle with the daily stresses and joys of parenting. Meanwhile, the Camdens' seven children--Lucy (Beverley Mitchell), Simon (David Gallagher), youngest daughter Ruthie (Mackenzie Rosman), and twins Sam and David (real-life twins Lorenzo and Nikolas Brino)--navigate the trials and tribulations of growing up with wholesome aplomb. Despite growing up and apart, the Camdens continue to rely on one another to sort through serious issues. In the popular show's seventh season, nomadic Mary (Jessica Biel) moves to Florida and gets involved with a pilot, and Lucy (Beverley Mitchell) dates a policeman who lives above the family's garage. In other developments, family patriarch Eric (Stephen Collins) undergoes heart surgery, and Ruthie (Mackenzie Rosman) befriends a troubled boy. This collection presents every episode of the family drama's seventh season. Disc 1 includes the following episodes: "Monkey Business: Part 1," "Monkey Business: Part 2," "The Enemy Within," "Bowling For Eric" and "The Heart Of The Matter." Additional Actors: Jessica Biel, Chaos, Brandon Henschel. Disc 2 includes the following episodes: "Regarding Eric," "Gabrielle, Come Blow Your Horn," "Peer Pressure," "Lost Souls" and "Cry For Help." Additional Actors: Audrey Wasilewski, Lenny Clarke, Richard Lewis. Disc 3 includes the following episodes: "Sunday," "Back In The Saddle Again," "It's Not Always About You" and "Smoking." Additional Actors: David Boyd, Matthew Linville, Scotty Leavenworth, Shannon Kenny. Disc 4 includes the following episodes: "I Love Lucy," "Stand Up," "High Anxiety" and "We Do." Additional Actors: Olivia Brown, John Bennett Perry, Lynn Harris. Disc 5 includes the following episodes: "That Touch of Bink: Part 1," "Dick: Part 2," "Life and Death: Part 1" and "Life And Death: Part 2." Additional Actors: Alan Fudge, Tara Lipinski, Dan Lauria. Paramount/CBS

Animalia: Welcome to the Kingdom Where Animals Rule Based on the popular children's alphabet book by Australian author Graeme Base, Animalia tells the story of Alex and Zoe, two kids bent on saving an unlikely civilization of animals that are able to communicate with the humans thanks to a mysterious orb. This fast-paced, funny, adventurous, and beautifully computer-animated series conveys a different underlying message relating to literacy with each episode. Included here are episodes from the first season. Porchlight

Adventures from the Book of Virtues: A Christmas Carol for Annie A new release this holiday season helps deliver messages of kindness and generosity in a straightforward, unpretentious manner, while also providing the opportunity for families to sit together and talk. The latest title in the Adventures from the Book of Virtues series, A Christmas Carol for Annie is a heartwarming collection of animated stories that keeps the reason for the season front and center by refreshing classic holiday tales for a modern audience. The title story highlights the universal theme of losing sight of the true meaning of Christmas when young Annie, in charge of the school's annual Christmas play, spends more time fretting about dollars than making memories. Employing clever plot devices, such as casting Annie as an adult Scrooge, offers a unique twist that doesn't sacrifice any of the original story's meaning. In both "The Gift of the Magi—A Story of Generosity" and "Old Mr. Rabbit's Thanksgiving," the story-within-a-story medium effectively communicates their respective messages: the idea of truly loving something by setting it free and the concept of feeling good about doing good. Porchlight

Katakune In this animated series designed especially for preschoolers, kids learn valuable lessons alongside the lovable Katakune, a precocious silkworm who makes his home in Tazzeleland, as he explores the world around him and makes new friends. Katakune's adventures are kid-friendly, but they also touch on complex themes such as responsibility, friendship, value systems, science, geography and mathematics. Porchlight

White House Pets Truman said, 'If you want a friend in Washington, get a dog.' First families have followed suit with a menagerie of presidential pets. From Martha Washington's parrot to Jefferson's bears, meet the animals that have called 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue home. Over 200 years...and under 39 presidents the White House has seen more than 400 pets come through its doors. Everything - from bears to hyenas to alligators - has roamed the halls of power. While many past Leaders of the Free World have opted for more traditional house pets over the years, others took a more rock star-like approach in their choice of animal companionship. One of Woodrow Wilson's mammalian companions, for example, was a tobacco-eating pet ram. Party animal Ulysses S. Grant loved his horses. John Adams cared for an alligator, and that loveable William Howard Taft brought a cow to the White House. And Theodore Roosevelt...well Teddy unleashed in the famous hallowed halls all manner of dog, macaw, snake, lion, raccoon, hyena, badger, and a kitty-cat named Tom Quartz. And that's just the tip of the iceberg in this comprehensive history of the hundreds of pets that have graced the White House. Genius

Jag: Seventh Season Like a small-screen version of A Few Good Men, the television series JAG delves into the world of military justice with a stirring blend of action and drama. Created by TV stalwart Donald Bellisario, the series follows JAG (Judge Advocate General) officer Harmon "Harv" Rabb (David James Elliott) and his partner, Marine Lt. Colonel Sarah "Mac" Mackenzie (Catherine Bell), as they investigate and prosecute military crimes within the Marine Corps and Navy. In this seventh season, the show begins incorporating post-9/11 storylines involving Al Qaeda and the war in Afghanistan, while the twisted tactics of Lieutenant Loren Singer (Nanci Chambers) reach a fever pitch. Disc 1 includes the following episodes: "Adrift: Part 2," "New Gun In Town," "Measure Of Men," "Guilt" and "Mixed Messages." Additional Actors: Marc Valera, Monique Edwards, Mae Whitman. Disc 2 includes the following episodes: "Redemption," "Ambush," "JAGathon," "Dog Robber: Part 1" and "Dog Robber: Part 2." Additional Actors: Duke Stroud, Tom Jay Jones, Damar Reilly. Mister Foe A troubled young man beset with voyeuristic tendencies and a strong Oedipal longing for his dead mother, Hallam is a sensitive and volatile teenager who has taken to spying on his stepmother, Verity (Claire Forlani), who he suspects is responsible for his mother's death by drowning two years earlier. When a charged psychosexual confrontation with Verity stokes the fires of his unresolved grief, Hallam flees his father's country estate for the picturesque Scottish capital of Edinburgh. There, he sets his sights on Kate (Sophia Myles), an attractive hotel manager who happens to bear a striking resemblance to his late mother. Soon, through a bit of charm and more than a little stalking, Hallam scores a menial job under Kate's employ; romantically--or creepily, depending on your viewpoint--Hallam pines for Kate from a distance, observing her daily activities (kickboxing, grooming, sex), through binoculars. Hallam's adolescent fantasies soon blossom into an unlikely romance when, during an after-work function, Kate revealingly declares, "I like creepy guys." While Mister Foe tackles some rather unsettling psychological territory, David MacKenzie infuses the film with enough light, comic touches and a playful atmosphere of magic realism to prevent it from edging toward dolorous melodrama. Rounding out this very likeable indie feature are a delightful animated title sequence by artist David Shirgley, and a spirited soundtrack from Domino Records, featuring a bevy of Scottish rockers such as Franz Ferdinand and Orange Juice. Magnolia

The Zombie Diaries In the not-too-distant future, a mysterious plague has spread to every corner of the planet. Once it kills, the virus reanimates the dead, transforming them into flesh-eating zombies. This film reveals the terror through the eyes of its witnesses. Video cameras from a documentary film crew, a couple fleeing London (ground zero for the virus) and a band of survivors holed up in a barn capture the relentless zombie attack as it happens. Genius

Casino Royale This swinging spoof of Ian Fleming's spy hero features an aging James Bond (David Niven), reluctantly dragged out of retirement to chase down the evil crime clique called Smersh. In order to confound the forces led by the villainous Le Chiffre (Orson Welles), the Secret Service enlists five other agents, also under the name "Bond," and all six converge on the titular casino. Meanwhile, Woody Allen, as the retiring secret agent's nephew, causes havoc at every turn. The gleefully chaotic product of five directors, numerous screenwriters, and the late 1960s in general, Casino Royale revels in its psychedelic spy satire premise. The comedy features a legion of stars in roles both large and small: Niven, Welles, Allen, Peter Sellers, Ursula Andress, William Holden, Jean-Paul Belmondo, Jacqueline Bisset, Deborah Kerr, and many more. MGM

The L Word 5th Season This Showtime drama follows an ensemble cast of characters who represent multiple facets of the lesbian lifestyle, but enact very human dramas that anyone can relate to. At the center is Jenny (Mia Kirshner, Exotica), who moves to a hip L.A. neighborhood to be with her boyfriend, a swim coach named Tim. Immediately swept up in the lesbian community, Jenny begins to question the heterosexuality she had always taken for granted, while the lives and loves of those around her play themselves out in sometimes humorous, sometimes painful ways. In this fifth season, Jenny finds her way into the director's chair for the movie Lez Girls. Meanwhile, Bette battles her jealousy over Tina's new lover, and Alice accidentally outs a male celebrity. Plus there's that pesky sex tape that rocks the film set. This collection presents all 12 episodes of the fifth season of this sexy series. Disc 1 includes the following episodes: "LGB Tease," "Look Out, Here They Come" and "Lady Of The Lake." Additional Actors: Kristanna Loken, Cybill Shepherd, Jane Lynch. Disc 2 includes the following episodes: "Let's Get This Part," "Lookin' At You, Kid" and "Lights! Camera! Action!" Additional Actors: Malaya Rivera Drew, Angela Gots, Ted Whittall. Disc 3 includes the following episodes: "Lesbians Gone Wild!" "Laydown the Law" and "Liquid Heat." Additional Actors: Elizabeth Keener, Wallace Shawn, Aaron Craven. Disc 4 includes the following episodes: "Lifecycle," "Lunar Cycle" and "Loyal and True." Additional Actors: Brian Markinson, Holland Taylor, Preston Cook. Paramount/CBS

The 4400 Complete Series When 4400 alien abductees return to earth just as mysteriously as they vanished, the Department of Homeland Security demands answers. But even more pressing than the concerns of the government are the experiences of the victims as they readjust to life on earth. Upon their return, these formerly missing persons lose all memory of what happened to them. Though they can't remember where they've been, they are haunted by the knowledge that their experiences have changed them. Operating in a cloud of unknowns, the victims start to go through mysterious changes, gaining powers that they can't always control. Season One Peter Coyote and Michael Moriarty star in a sci-fi series (produced by Francis Ford Coppola) that posits what would happen if 4,400 people abducted by aliens over the past half-century were suddenly returned to Earth. These are their stories. Some are ordinary citizens who have now been imbued with extraordinary powers, while others are just trying to find their way as best they can in what is, for them, an entirely new world. Season Two This gripping sci-fi series explores the experiences of 4,400 men and women who were abducted by aliens and must now try to pick up the pieces of their shattered lives. Although they don't remember any of the details and some are able to move on, others may be forever scarred by their experience. It's up to two government agents, Tom Bishop (Joel Gretsch) and Diana Skouris (Jacqueline McKenzie), to find out the truth. Season Three Ever since a mass of some 4,400 missing people who had been presumed dead collectively returned to Earth in a blinding flash of light, strange things have been happening to them and those around them. In the third season of this USA sci-fi drama, Lily (Laura Allen) inexplicably transforms into a 75-year-old woman while her infant daughter, Isabelle, suddenly becomes a young adult (played by Megalyn Echikunwoke). Season Four The Promicin war heats up, with the enigmatic Jordan (Bill Campbell) determined to supply the potent medication to the people in his quest to create a better world, and the equally determined NTAC out to stop him from distributing the potentially lethal drug. Meanwhile, more information about the reason for the return of the 4,400 to Earth is revealed. Joel Gretsch and Jacqueline McKenzie also star in the fourth season of this hit sci-fi series. Paramount/CBS

Sister Sister Season One Tia Mowry and Tamera Mowry star as two separated twins who reunite after a 14-year separation. After a chance encounter at the mall, they have the perfect opportunity to learn what sisterhood is all about. And they're not about to give it up! The two even convince their oil-and-water adoptive parents--yuppie Ray (Tim Reid) and city girl Lisa (Jackée Harry)--to move their families into the same house, offering plenty of comic spice...and perhaps even some romance? This collection presents all 12 episode of the sitcom's first season. Disc 1 includes the following episodes: "The Meeting," "First Dates," "Slumber Party," "Cheater, Cheater," "Wedding Bells & Box Boys" and "Out Alone." Disc 2 includes the following episodes: "The Pimple," "Car Trouble," "The Birthday," "Love Strikes," "The Concert" and "Mothers & Other Strangers." Paramount

The Legend of the Crystal Skulls Crystal skulls have a devoted following who believe in their mystical (and perilous) powers and a Mayan legend of 13 skulls coming together in a time of great peril to save mankind by divulging the secret knowledge of all ages. Today there are a handful of crystal skull relics, including one at the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, D.C. This is the story of curator Jane MacLaren Walsh's 16-year quest to trace the origins of the 31-pound crystal skull mailed anonymously to the museum in 1992. Walsh's investigation takes her from ancient Mesoamerica to archives across Europe and the Americas, where she traces legend and makes comparisons to other skulls and to pre-Columbian Aztec and Mixtec rock crystals and artifacts. But the skulls are perfectly designed to confound researchers. Made of quartz crystal, they contain no carbon, essential to dating. Walsh and her colleagues faced a formidable challenge, pitting science against the supernatural. Join them as they uncover the truth behind one of the world's most enduring mysteries...that of the mythical crystal skulls. Infinity

Doughboys After a childhood spent working in the family bakery, Lou (Louis Lombardi) and Frank (Gaetano Iacono) inherited the shop and set about following in their father's cannoli-making footsteps. When Lou gets in over his head with gambling debts, however, local mobsters threaten to take the store as payment. Now the younger brother must come up with a way to save the business--fast--with-out involving his worrisome older sibling. MTI
